

USA – MUSIC AND MUSICAL LIFE

- Statement John Richardson
Statement Willibald P. Pahr
Statement Ernst Krenek: On these Pages
- Elliott Carter What is American Music
Robert P. Morgan Autonomy and Tradition –
American Music in the Twentieth Century
John Eaton New Music in the United States since 1950-1976: An Overview
Gunther Schuller The American Avantgarde – between Tradition and Experiments
Claudio Spies The Composer in American Universities
Julius Rudel The American Opera
Paul Lansky Music-making Machines
Barry S. Brook Musicology and Musicological Training in the United States
Irving Lowens The Writing of American Music History between World Wars I and II
Robert Breuer The American Music Business
Boris Schwarz American Performers and American Music Schools
James G. Roy American Music Publishers and their Services to American Composers
Edward Mattos The American Composer on Record
Leonard Stein The Arnold Schoenberg Institute in Los Angeles

The Authors of this Issue, Index

A MUSIKZEIT special on the occasion of the US-Bicentennial as a concentrated compendium of music, which you will hardly have seen before. Explains are features that set American musical life apart from that in Europe, thus serving for a better understanding.

New York: Austrian Cultural Forum

